

Dear Colleagues: We trust this message will find you, family and friends healthy and coping with the pandemic in the best possible way. These are challenging times for all of us, and many people around the globe are facing a terrible situation. We need to persevere and soon enough we will be on the other side of this dreadful period.

We have had several rounds of discussion regarding our 6^{to} Congreso Regional de Economía Agraria and IAAE-Inter-Conference Symposium and we regret to inform you that we have decided to postpone the event. Our plan is to move this Conference to the week of November 8th, 2021 still in beautiful Montevideo, Uruguay.

We want to thank everyone that that has submitted papers and our intention is to roll these submissions over to 2021 unless the authors decide otherwise. We also want to thank all who have agreed to participate and contribute in different parts of the program and organization of the Conference, and our hope is that you will be willing to continue such involvement in 2021.

Please let us know if you have any questions or ideas as we move forward. Again, thanks to everyone. Best wishes to you and your families, and stay healthy, Boris and Federico
